ABSTRACT

Vermont Technical College's (VTC's) graduating class of 1987 has attained a 100% placement rate, marking the third consecutive year that every VTC graduate has found employment, continued his/her education, or entered the military. This report offers follow-up data on the 182 men and women of the class of 1987, broken down by degree major. In addition, listings are presented of the employers who sought referrals of graduates, those employers who interviewed on campus, and a summary sheet of all wages reported by graduates. The following accomplishments are highlighted: (1) in 1987, a record 305 employers contacted the college, including 114 from out of state; (2) 55 employers held on-campus interviews; (3) wages reached a new high with an average of $17,246 reported for those employed in engineering technologies; and (4) 96% of those graduates employed were working in fields directly related to their college major. 1987 Placement Report
Summary

Vermont Technical College is proud to announce that its graduating Class of 1987 has attained a 100% placement rate. This is the third consecutive year that every graduate has found employment, continued his or her education or entered the military.

The accompanying pages document the success of the 182 men and women who comprise the Class of 1987. In addition to individual pages for each degree major the reader will also find listings of the employers who sought referrals of graduates, those employers who interviewed on campus and a summary sheet of all wages reported by graduates. Several accomplishments are particularly noteworthy:

- A record 305 employers contacted the college (114 from out-of-state)
- 55 employers held on-campus interviews.
- Wages reached a new high with an average of $17,246 reported for those employed in engineering technologies.
- Three quarters of those employed reported earnings.
- 96% of those graduates employed were working directly related to his or her major.

We at Vermont Technical College applaud the members of this class. Their strong work ethic was cited by employers as the primary reason for recruiting at VTC. Certainly the attainment of a 100% placement rate for a third year in a row echos the college's motto, "Excellence in Technology".

If the reader is in need of additional information to clarify the report, please contact my office. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Jonathan M. Morrell
